Respected Sir,

Greetings of the day!

It is with great pride that I introduce you to Rudram Dynamics Foundation (RDF) a not-for-profit organisation that aims to offer a comprehensive platform for Research Training and Diploma programs on various components related to National Security. In pursuance of this goal RDF has partnered with IIT Madras Pravartak (IIT MP) and Gujarat National Law University (GNLU) to establish a 'Centre of Excellence for National Security' with an aim to galvanise a broadly educated, conscious security practitioners equipped with necessary skills sets to develop national security policies and strategies.

Keeping the above in mind, RDF has curated an 'eight-day certificate program' on 'Understanding North East India: An Exposition,' that is divided into two sections: Level I and II. The course's goal is to familiarize participants with the history, society, and culture of North East India with a sufficient emphasis on area study. Students, researchers, law enforcement agencies, and members of the armed forces and paramilitary are our target audience.

Prominent scholars from the region including, Professor Mahendra P. Lama (who leads the team formed by the Government of India to prepare the North East Region Vision 2047), Lt. Gen. Pradeep Chandran Nair (current Director General of the Assam Rifles), Lt. Gen. Shokin Chauhan (former Director General of the Assam Rifles), and renowned conflict theorist Jaideep Saikia, along with other resource people with expertise and firsthand experience in the region, will conduct the course.

I have attached the brochure and the banner of the course for your reference.

Therefore, it is our humble request that you kindly disseminate this information to your students and those who may be interested in the course. Any help you could provide in promoting the program would be greatly appreciated.

The course will be offered in an online format every Saturday.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,
